Toyota decided to stop two elevators at its Tokyo headquarters to save money. This will also save electricity and lower the costs of maintenance of the building. One reason for doing this is the Japanese yen is becoming stronger. A stronger yen means Toyota cars are more expensive and profits go down. Toyota is also changing the temperature of air conditioners to save money. These decisions show that Toyota is interested not only in saving money but also in reducing waste.

MARK THE FOLLOWING SENTENCES AS TRUE OR FALSE

- 1) Toyota closed two elevators at its headquarters because they were dangerous T / F
- 2) Toyota is making fewer profits because of the financial situation T / F

The Internet is changing how we shop. More people shop online and not in real stores. This is having terrible effects for traditional stores in the U.K. A report says that 47 per cent of stores (20,000 shops) are under financial stress and a quarter will be disappeared in three years. The closure of traditional shops has also produced "ugly" town centres. Stores haven't been able to face the challenge of e-commerce. They need new ideas to get the customers back.
