There is a worldwide price war among taxi companies. There is more competition for passengers because apps are making taxis cheaper. Some companies are cutting prices drastically. Drivers of London's black taxis are unhappy with the taxi apps. They say that drivers of app taxis do not have enough experience. They also do not have enough knowledge of London's streets. Some taxi fares in London have gone down from $45 to $7.50. A taxi app boss said the price war can generate more profits.

MARK THE FOLLOWING SENTENCES AS TRUE OR FALSE

- 1) Today, taxis are more expensive than in the past T / F
- 2) London's taxi drivers appreciate the taxi apps T / F
- 3) London's taxi drivers think that drivers of app taxis are not competent enough T / F

The popularity of online shopping is creating chaos on city streets. The high number of online orders requires a lot of trucks to deliver them to customers, causing traffic jams on city streets. This is also negative for the air quality. Many more drivers try to deliver the products to customers on time. They fight for parking spaces. Many of them park illegally, which makes traffic worse and road users angry. In certain areas of London, food delivery motorbikes need a permission to ride.

MARK THE FOLLOWING SENTENCES AS TRUE OR FALSE

- 1) Online shopping produces less traffic T / F
- 2) Many delivery trucks don't park properly T / F
- 3) London prohibited food delivery motorbikes in all the city centre T / F

More companies are letting staff dress casually. In the past, business people and office workers had to wear a suit and tie. Today, this is less important. Companies want staff to feel more relaxed, so they work harder. The latest international company to relax its dress code is Goldman Sachs. It wants its workers to "exercise good judgment" in deciding what to wear. It said the change was because workplaces are becoming more casual. Companies like Google let staff wear jeans.

MARK THE FOLLOWING SENTENCES AS TRUE OR FALSE

- 1) In the past, office workers had to wear the company uniform T / F
- 2) Companies let staff dress casually because in this way they can be more productive T / F
- 3) Goldman Sachs lets its workers decide how to dress T / F
